EIGHTEEN DIVORCES.

JUDGE ALDEN CUTS THAT NUMBER OF MARITAL BONDS.

MANY DECREES WERE REFUSED.

NINETY-EIGHT SUITS STILL PENDING IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

Judge Alden Cross-Examined a Number of Plaintiffs in Cases Where Defendants Were Absent and Refused Several Decrees.

The divorce docket of the June term of district court was taken up yesterday by Judge Alden, and all day long he listened to tales of domestic woe. All cases heard yesterday were default cases, and urt was very careful that none of the intiffs took advantage of the absent dendants, and many questions were put to wilnesses by the court direct. As suit of Judge Aiden's cross-examination veral decrees were refused. When court adjourned last evening sighteen mismated couples had been relieved of their matrimonial obligations and made free to choose other companions. The following were divorced: W. P. House from Dora House; Mary Thomas from Hannibal Thomas: Eil Porter from Jennie Porter; Mary E. Neff from Whitman Neff; Clemen-tina Addison from Edward F. Addison, deand restoration of maiden name; h E. Githens from Charles Githens; Williams from George Williams George Schler from Emma Schler; Harry Clausen from Hunnah Clausen; Albert F Atwood from Minnie Atwood; Sarah E. Miller from Robert Miller, decree and cusody of minor children; Oliver Partridge of minor children; Oliver Fartriage Ella Partriage; Sarah C. File from the File, decree and allmony; Albert & from Maude Uhrig; Jessie B. John-from Clyde Johnson, decree and cus-minor children; John Hartman Mollie Hartman; Frank Harrel from Harrel, decree and custody of mir en; Laura D. Merrett from Jesse children; Laura D. Merrett from Jesse J. Marrett.

The most interesting case was that of Oliver Partridge against Ella Partridge. The plaintiff has lived in this city since they separated at Lincoln. Ill., about two years ago, and the defendant remained in that city. The plaintiff testified that he tried to persuade his wife to come out here and live with him, and introduced the following letter, received by him from the defendant, in court as evidence of the truthfulness of this allegation:

"Well, old boy, your letter and money received. You're foxy, I don't think. You thought you had me worked so I would have to come out there. I wouldn't live with you again if every hair in your head was strung with gold. I have done just what you have taught me to do: When you cutch a sucker bump his head. I have what you have taught me to do: When you outch a sucker bump his head. I have caught a sucker, and It is you, and I bumped your head for that $20. You needn't waste any more paper and stamps on me. Be a good little boy. From your darling, "ELLA."

Attorney Hen Henderson laid much stress on the fact that his client had been made a "sucker" of, and this seemed to have some weight with the court, as a decree was weight with the court, as a decree was granted.

Another case to which there was an interesting feature was that of Ella Smith against James Smith. It developed that this muit was brought prematurely, as the plaintiff had not lived in the state long enough to permit her suing for divorce under the laws of this state. Her attorney, J. S. Gibson, hastily ran through the petition and discovered that since the time of the filling of the document sufficient time had clapsed to permit him to commence a new suit which would be in accord with the state law. He told his client to take a seat in the sheriff's office while he ran over to his office and drew up a new petition. This done, he returned to the court house and niled the suit with the clerk. This will enable Ella to secure a decree at the present term of court. A number of plaintiffs in divorce suits called yesterday failed to show up in court and the cases were dismissed. In each of these cases the interested parties have "made up" and are now living to-wether. ies have "made up" and are now living gether.

Yesterday's docket was unusually large Yesterday's docket was unusually large. While there is always a good sized docket on divorce day, it is seldom that eighteen decrees are granted. As a rule about as many are diamissed and continued as tried. A canvass of the lawyers in court yesterday shows that ninety-eight divorce suits are still pending in the district court, as follows: Attorneys Enright & Sartin, 13; J. Haie, 2; J. A. Smith, 8; A. H. Cobb, 5; J. W. Jenkins, 2; Joseph Littick, 6; George Littick, 2; W. R. Smith, 7; K. P. Snyder, 2; W. H. McCamish, 1; W. J. Fuller, 4; E. C. Anderson, 2; Anderson & Henderson, 7; Getty & Hutchings, 4; B. S. Smith, 11; Paul Jones, 7; City Attorney Pollock, 3; County Attorney Miller, 2.

MRS. HACKLEY VERY LOW.

Shot by Her Husband Sunday Night-Physicians Have Hopes of Saving Her Life.

Mrs. Clara Hackley, better known as Mrs. Todd, who was shot by her husband Sunday night, at the corner of Second street and Kansas avenue, is resting easily at St. Margaret's hospital, and the attending physicians have some hopes of saving her life. She is in a very critical condition, however. The bullets were extracted vesterday. The steel staves in Mrs. Hackley's corset greatly checked the force of the bullets. Dr. Gray stated yesterday tint only for the woman's corset she would have been shot through and through.

Gray states yes keep would have been shot through and through.

Told whose right name is Hackley, is in the county jail, and appears to be taking the matter coolly. He stated yesterday that he was very sorry that he shot his wife, but added that his actions may prove beneficial to mother-in-iaws. He claims that his wife's mother is the cause of the trouble between him and the woman. He laves his wife, be says, and would continue to love her if she lived to be a thousand years, but he would rather she were dead than living the life that he claims she has been living. A state warrant will be issued than living the life that he claims she has been living. A state warrant will be issued for Todd to-day, and he will be arraigned before Judge Pfost. He requested the jai afficials to notify Attorney J. A. Smitt that he wanted him to defend him.

Schultz Not a Candidate.

Schultz Not a Candidate.

Theodore Schultz announces that he is not a candidate for the office of county tressurer and will under no consideration consent to his name being used as such. This cuts the list down to just two candidates in this race—John Caskey, formerly president of the police board under Governor Morrill, and W. B. Garlich, existreet commissioner. If no other candidates enter the race, this will be one of the prottiest contests at the approaching primaries. Both of these gentlemen are men of high standing in the county and they are both equally as well known. They have lived here about the same length of time and have spotless records. Either man would make a creditable official.

At orney Hale Stands by Johnson.

Atterney J. A. Hale stated yesterday that he would appeal to the supreme court in the case of the state against Ben Johnson. Johnson was convicted at the present term of the district court on the charge of highway robbery, and was sentenced to the penitentiary by Judge Alden for twelve years. Attorney Hale is positive of the innocence of Johnson, and he declares that he will not stop until he has made every possible effort to save the young man. Hale tas taken a very deep interest in Johns h and has fought the case for him witho compensation. He says tha Johnship the club has plenty of pitchers without him.

Old, Her Life.

Little Rosa Siphter, the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Siphter, who reside at the corner of Seventh street and the Quindaro boulevard, was fataily burned yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock while playing with a bonfire which had been built on the commons near the Siphter home by a number of children. The child's mother was langerously burned while making an effort to save her infant from the flames. The little girl was still alive last night, but the attending physicians have given up all hope for her recovery.

The accident was a distressing one. The older children had forbidden little Rosa to play around the bonfire, but she caught up several pieces of burning sticks and started to build a fire to herself. She had raked up a pile of paper, weeds etc., and in attempting to ignite it her areas caught fire and in the twinkling of an eye her little form was completely wrapped in flames. Mrs. Siphter was attracted to the scene by the screams of the children and frantically rushed to the rescue. She grabbed the child up in her arms and attempted to smother the flames. She succeeded in doing this, but her own clothing became United in the meantime and she was in as perilous a position as her little child was a moment before. A large crowd of meighbors were on the scene by this time, and Mrs. Siphter was rescued.

Washington, July 12.-An important decision construing the rights of pension claimants in line of duty cases was renclaimants in line of duty cases was rendered to-day by Assistant Secretary of the Interfor Webster Davis. The issue is made in the case of Henry Miller, private in Company K, One Hundred and First Ohio intantry. After being relieved from guard duty one day, Miller voluntarily assisted a teamster in watering mules, and while so occupied he was fired upon and injured. The department heretofore has rejected such cases as not in the line of duty. Assistant Secretary Davis, however, reverses the pension bureau's action, holds that the cialmant was not disobeying orders nor violating army regulations, but was aiding a comrade in protecting government prophis tent, in pursuance of any employ-nt at which he had a right to be emplayed.

No Midsummer Term of the District

Court-Bad Stories About a

Colored Preacher.

Contrary to general expectations there will not be any midsummer term of the district court. Judge Myers arrived here yesterday morning and opened the court at 19 o'clock. When the regular April term adjournment was taken Judge Myers announced that he would come back and hold court during the months of July and August to clear up the docket, which is several hundred cases behind, and for the attorneys to prepare for business.

The hungling work of the Populist legislature complicated things, and a week ago Judge Myers gave it out that he would only try cases agreed upon until the status of the district court was established. The decision from the state supreme court setting aside the act pretending to abolish the terms of court came sooner than was expected and not all the attorneys were ready to proceed yesterday.

Judge Myers announced that he would adjourn the special term over until September 6, when a special session of three weeks would be held in advance of the regular October term. He dismissed the jury and devoted several hours during the day to disposing of motions of minor importance.

The cases wherein citizens brought suft against the county to recover money for keeping insane people were brought up Colored Preacher.

The cases wherein citizens brought suft against the county to recover money for keeping insane people were brought up and judgments granted for the amounts claimed by the plaintiffs. There was no dispute over the amounts due and the county made no contests, but practically enfessed judgment.

The adjourning of the special term to September meets with the approval of the attorneys and litigants, while it is displensing to others. Many cases have been on the docket for two and three years awaiting trial and all interested are anxious to have them disposed of.

Ugly Stories About a Preacher. A story was set afloat yesteriay morning that John Emery, an old-time colored preacher tiving on Ohlo street, had tried to commit suicide. It was reperted that he attempted to do so because of some trouble he got into with his step-daughter. There were many ugly rumors about the affair; one was that the girl had an illegitimate child recently and that Mrs. Emery, wife of the minister, had become insune over the actions of her husband and daughter. Rev. Emery made an emphatic denial of the attempt at suicide and of all the slanderous stories about him. He has not been preaching of tate and says that the stories were started by his enemies, some of whom were formerly members of his

Of course, this may be making him out too good to longer remain in deprayed thieving circles, but some of his friends insist he ought to try and stand it. Of course, Mr. Fleming will say nothing about the Vailins trouble, or percentages given by pickpockets and thieves to loot the city, nor will he refer to the fact that there has been a great revival of the robbing business since the present police arrangement was consummated. Fearing arrest, Culver and Green went into seclusion. The deputy marshals had learned that they were in the habit of frequenting rooms over a saloon at Twelfth and Vine streets, and they went there last night in search of them. Near the saloon they met Officer O'Donnell, who accompanied them into the second story of the building. Officer O'Donnell noticed two tough looking men lounging at one of the opposite corners. He and Deputy Marshal Galiagher crossed the street for the purpose of questioning and searching these men. Officer O'Donnell seized one of them by the arm, and as he did so the other retreated a few steps and opened fire upon Deputy Marshal Galiagher, firing two shots, one of which struck him in the neck. The man who did the shooting then ran away. In the meantime, Galiagher had taken his revolver from his hip pocket, and he fired three or four shots at his assailant, but did not hit him.

Deputy Marshal Taylor ran across the street, but he was too late to catch the fleeling thug. Officer O'Donnell kept a tight grip upon his man, and took him to police headquarters, where he was locked up. Lights at Fairmount. The feature at Fairmount auditorium this week is clever little Papinta, the myrind dancer. Her dances are on the La Loie Fuller order, the only difference being in a number of mirrors placed around the stage from the numerous reflections of which she takes her title of myriad dancer. The grace of her movements, combined with the wealth of vari-colored lights thrown on a volume of skillfully handled draperies, makes a picture that is entrancing in its beauty. The fire dance, called "Le Feu," and the lily dance were the favorites with last night's audience, which was very enthusiastic in its appreciation. John Daly Murphy gave several very clever coster imitations and did a Bowery tough in a short plece called, "A Little Madeap." Mr. Stewart Allen and Miss Merri Osborne were also cast in this, the part of the "Madeap" of course, falling into the hands of Miss Osborne. Miss Agnes Knight and Mr. E. W. Thomas opened the bill in a one not skit entitled "A Husband in Clover." which was well received. "It was a great convention," said Mr. Stonestreet yesterday, "and I wish I could have stayed two weeks longer and taken in some of the thousand and one sights to be seen in the two cities and surrounding territory. Minneapolis did itself proud from the beginning to the end of the convention. Nothing was too good for the Elks. Those from Ransas City came home determined to make a great showing at New Orleans next year. Those who did not go missed the biggest treat of the decade.

"Kansas City will undoubtedly have the convention two years from now. New Orleans had it pretty well fixed for next year, and promised to do all it could to bein us get the convention in 1899 if we did not make a hard fight for it next year.

"New Orleans had also fixed up the very sensible plan of having the reunion occur in May next year. Kansas City Elks will go to New Orleans seventy-five or 190 strong, and if we have our big convention hall, of which there seems to be no doubt, we will certainly come home with the rounton of 1899. Kansas City will see 15,000 Elks if it gets the convention, and it is well worth trying for, from the most selfish of motives. We dropped out at our headquarters, after marching five miles. We stood no chance of winning, and some of our most imposing delegates were fleshy men, who were pretty well fagged out. We had delightful weather, except on the day of the parade, and it was hotter there than it was here. On Friday, when it was hot here, it was delightfully cool there, and during the evening overcoats were almost a necessity. DOUBTFUL JURISDICTION. Attorney General McKenna Recommends That Congress Settle It With a New Law.

With a New Law.

Washington, July 12.—(Special.) Whether the district court for the Western district of Arkansas has jurisaliction to try a person who, prior to September I, 1896, committed a crime in the Indian Territory and was committed by said court prior to September 1.1896, but was not arrested prior to that date, has caused Attorney General McKenna to send to congress to-day recommendatioms bearing upon the subject. He enclosed an extract from a letter recently received by the department from Hon. John H.
Rogers, district judge for the Western district of Arkansas, as follows:

"On receipt of your letter of recent date in regard to arresting parties on warrants from this court, issued upon indictments from this court, its seek the clerk to bisue no more warrants on such indictments, and it is not probable that the question presented as to whether this court would have jurisdiction to try those cases will, under the circumstances, ever be brought before this court for determination. I am informed by the clerk that there are about 700 indictments belonging to the class named in this court. It seems to me that if it can be done these indictments ought to be iransferred to several courts in the Indian Territory having jurisdiction of the cases.
This would, of course, require legislation,
and I simply mention the matter that it might be called to your attention, and, if you think proper, that the special attention of congress may be called to the same."

Attorney General McKenna quotes in hav providing for the appointment of additional judges of the United States courts in the Indian Territory and for other purposes, and recommends that the needed legislation to relieve the situation be en-
